BOAT CLUB BENEFIT

The Neill Company will play Nancy & Co. next Monday night as a benefit for the Myrtle Boat Club and the women expect to see the house packed from pit to dome with Myrtle sympathizers and friends. Society will be there and the beautiful new dresses many of the lady adherents to Myrtle colors are preparing for the occasion, will prove a revelation of beauty to theater goers.

Nancy & Co. has been selected for many good reasons; mainly because it was pronounced by all who saw it to be a delightful performance in every respect, keeping the audience in an uproar of laughter the whole time. Those who are in a position to know say it is the cleverest play the Neills have put on.

On account of many counter attractions, Nancy & Co. had a poor house the night it was put on and, if any play should draw a packed house, Nancy & Co. is the one.

The Myrtle boys have an expensive undertaking before them, brought about by the necessity of moving their boat house from its pleasant quarters. They have not called for any outside assistance until now, when the Neill Co. has given them the opportunity of raising a sum of money and, at the same time, giving valuable amusement to their friends.

Enthusiasm is running high among the clubmen and they will use every endeavor to make the occasion memorable. The house will be profusely decorated in red and white, which will give it a brilliant and pleasing appearance.

One of the boxes has been reserved for Hawaiian club men and will be appropriately decorated in the pretty blue and white. A box opposite will contain officers and members of the Myrtle Club.

The ushers, who will be Myrtle boys, will wear the natty hunting coats of senior members. Tickets will be sold by members of the club and the regular sale will go on at Wall, Nichols Co.'s store. All members desiring to help by selling tickets may get them from Henry Giles at E. O. Hall & Son.

NIOBE MADE MIRTH

"Niobe," played by the Neill company to a fair audience at the Hawaiian Opera House last night, kept the place vibrating with laughter from beginning to end. Mr. Neill and Edythe Chapman in the leading roles made a perfect success of the comedy, which is both fantastic and beautiful. The manner in which they sustained their parts throughout the three acts, without a flaw or a moment of inattention to business, was remarkable. Their support was steady though not brilliant in all cases. Julia Dean and Lillian Andrews exhibiting a truer appreciation of their parts than the rest. The entire cast was as follows:

Peter Amos Dunn Mr. Neill
Cornelius Griffin Robert Morris
Jefferson Tompkins F. MacVicar
Phineas Innes George Bloomquist
Parker Silcox John W. Burton
Servant Scott Seaton
Niobe Edythe Chapman
Caroline Dunn Lucille Spinney
Hattie Griffin Julia Dean
Helen Griffin Lillian Andrews
Madeline Mifflon Louise Brownell
Beatrice Silcox Mary Elizabeth Forbes

The Revs. Dr. Hartley and Westervelt spoke on practical temperance. The remarks of the speakers were enthusiastically received, and, at the close of the meeting, several persons signed the pledge. Private Gladling of Camp McKinley opened the meeting with a piano solo. After that came a number of songs by various members of the club.

JOHN STEPHENSON
AGAINST DE GREAVES

John Stephenson has brought suit against John DeGreaves for $2000 which he alleges the defendant owes him for certain board, lodging, etc. The case will come up in the Circuit Court during the February term. The case is an unusual one for, in the complaint, the plaintiff states that the money due was expended in the support of Mrs. DeGreaves for the past six years or so. One of the counts of the complaint reads as follows:

"That for a period of six years, preceding the commencement of this action, the plaintiff has at the instance and request of the defendant and in Honolulu, furnished Caroline DeGreaves, wife of the defendant, with board, lodging, washing and necessary clothing, the reasonable value and cost of which amount to the sum of $2000, in which sum the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff therefor."

Another count of the complaint reads as follows: "That during all these years the defendant neglected and refused to supply Caroline DeGreaves with the common necessities of life although abundantly able to do so, and that this plaintiff supplied the same at a cost of $2000."

There will be a big time at the Moana hotel tomorrow evening. Manager Allen has fixed up a fine dinner and, to make the enjoyment of the choice viands more complete, he has arranged for music by the Moana Quartet. After the football game there would be no better place to go than the Moana hotel. It will finish the day up well.
